

Re: Superbowl halftime---I find it more offensive that is this day and age of massive American citizens' fears,,,you are not addressing the act of Kid Rock wearing the American Flag with a hole cut in it,,,or a rapper on stage basically masturbating for a large amount of his performance. Give me a break,,,I see more than that on primetime television every night! And YES! My children were there watching it with me and we addressed it together and guess what???? They are fine! Get over it---worry about the violence they see on our evening news that shows their cousins, aunts , uncles, siblings and parents in Iraq killing and being killed. Now there! Worry about that,,,and think about that come next election.
